Background

Calsan Ltd. run two residential homes in Bedford. Representatives from Healthwatch Bedford Borough visited Bushmead Court. The visit was a training exercise for new authorised representative and the residential home manager was aware of that. The residential home is located near the town centre within an easy access to local shops and amenities. The capacity of the care home is 27 beds. At the time of the visit 24 residents were living in the care home. Accommodation for couples and partners is available as some of the rooms are double. Only 3 of the rooms are not en-suite. The care home provides care for people with a range of needs, including dementia and physical disabilities. The age of the client group ranges between 65 and 98. Occasionally, the care home will offer respite care. However, this is assessed on an individual needs basis.

Welcoming

We were welcomed to the home by a member of staff and escorted around the premises by the registered manager, Anne Bentley.

Most residents were enjoying the warm and sunny conservatory and one resident was listening to music on a personal CD player. Staff interacted with residents in a calm and respectful manner. One member of staff from the kitchen was enjoying a chat with a resident during their break.

Safe

The home has keypad access for security of the building and residents alike. We were prompted to sign in on arrival.

Accommodation is on three floors and a lift is available to access upper floors.

Staff – currently there are 24 staff in total working in the care home. This includes housekeepers. Many of the staff have been working in the care home for many years, one member has been with the care home for 20 years. The staff turnover is low. The care home does not use agency care staff at all as absences etc. are managed in-house.

Training – this is all managed in-house by an outside company. Staff have been trained in first aid, medicine management, infection control, moving and handling, safeguarding, health and safety, dementia to name a few. The company that provides the training keeps staff training records up to date.

Caring and Involving

During the visit it was observed that the residents were spoken to in a caring manner and treated with respect and dignity. The team observed staff giving reassurance to several residents.

At the time of our visit the hairdresser was present and several residents were receiving a manicure treatment. This was very much enjoyed by female residents in the care home.

Residents have various activities available to them during the week. This ranges from flower arranging, music events and quizzes to ball games. The rota is changed every month to suit the residents' needs. In the past, meetings were organised to find out from residents about what activities they would like added to the rota. According to one of the residents we spoke to, unfortunately these were not attended by many other residents.

An occupational therapist attends twice a week.

The home prepares food freshly on the premises. There is a four weekly rolling menu, which has some seasonal variations.

The team spoke with two residents who indicated they thought the food was good and they could make individual choices.

Residents have access to drinks and snacks throughout the day.

The main meal is lunch and there is a wide choice of mainly sandwiches and soup for supper.

Well organised and calm

The atmosphere in the care home was homely and calm.

The physical health care needs are met by local GPs. Most residents are from the local area and are encouraged to keep their existing GPs, unless they are out of catchment area or not happy with the GP.

The residents' rooms are cleaned regularly.

Night duty is covered by a senior member of staff and a care worker.

Discharge from hospital

In the past there were occasions when discharges happened late in the day but recently patients were discharged and back in the home by 5.00pm.

Summary

Overall the team felt that the home offered a good standard of care to residents and valued and supported the staff team. The residents the team spoke with indicated that they were happy with the care and support they were receiving and felt that staff treated them with respect and dignity.

Recommendations

- The home should explore ways to gather feedback from residents about the activities they would like to participate in.

Comment on recommendation on activities by the registered care home manager, Anne Bentley: 'Activities feedback: That is done by resident meetings and also they are always asked what they would like to see in the monthly activity list. We also send out questionnaire 6 monthly to get feedback. So the residents make the choices.'

- The management team to be made aware of the role and purpose of Healthwatch Bedford Borough and the Enter and View team.
